Italian is back on the menu for North Beach

Baia Coastal Italian Kitchen & Wine Bar is now Open, and folks are loving it. Fresh made pastas, focused menu, and a place where you can enjoy the same great view with none of the dishes. They highly suggest making a reservation, pro-tip remember to be environmentally thoughtful and take one car and the portions here are made for an individual. This restaurant is locally owned and staffed and their build-out is something that makes me very proud to have in our hometown.

City Sliders

Their existing restaurant is in Georgetown, Washington, DC. Their focus is on locally grown foods producing healthy, yet satisfying, foods. They offer an opportunity to have a variety of flavors for your burger needs by offering them in slider form. As we all have experienced they're just waiting on the government. Once they receive some of their final approvals, we should all be enjoying some delicious food!

President's Corner:

Hello Neighbors: It's Friday afternoon, September 23. Our first taste of Fall! It is glorious, and looks like we are heading into cool days and cooler nights. The sky has been especially beautiful this week just before dusk, with the pinks and blues and aqua water. I hope everyone is enjoying this time on the Bay. Here's what's been going on:

Ditches – we continue to see work on our ditches, and yes, they are deep. It will be sometime before we see the final work completed. But, the State has promised they will get Walnut Ave up to the current standards and drainage issues resolved. Please be patient.

Speed/Counting Strips – not sure if you noticed, the State laid a counting strip and a speed strip across Walnut Ave to track the amount of cars traveling on this road and their speed. This was done as part of our August 4 meeting with County and State officials. Will let you know the results of the findings when we get them from the County/State.

Our Community Building – we have had the outside power washed, Meredith Page has put a fresh coat of yellow on our steps for safety; our front door has a new blue color to it; Doug Sisk, Woody Young and Ken Shumate scraped and cleaned our grill and put a fresh coat of paint on the grill and painted the long picnic table. Thanks to all. We are ready for the Oyster Roast!

Oyster Roast – hope everyone is getting excited for our long awaited Oyster Roast.

Tickets are available on our website via PayPal. ($40 advance sale/$45 at door). Woody Young also has tickets available and can be reached at 410-286-5556 or Terri Sisk at 410-610-7906. Additional information can be found under the "Calendar" tab on our website. We also need baked goods for our bake table and a contribution of a bottle of wine or liquor for our "Ship of Cheer" raffle. Hope to see everyone there!

Crab Basket Christmas Tree - Plans are in the works for the 2nd Annual Holiday Crab basket Christmas tree in Deale, Maryland. This event is sponsored by the Anne Arundel County Watermen's Association. Some of us participated in this event last year and really enjoyed painting the baskets. I would like to set aside a day, sometime first part of November, at the Association building for us to paint our individual baskets together. Could possibly combine it with some wine and cheese and holiday music or you can paint your basket at home. Each basket is $50. Proceeds benefit the Watermen's Association as well as an annual scholarship. The baskets will be displayed at the Circle in Deale for the month of December and then returned to us. If you are interested in participating, please email me so I can order the baskets. Will have more information at our October 13 General Membership Meeting. Hope we can have a good response to this. Thanks. Gayle gpshumate9@gmail.com.

A Little Corner of History: "Isabel Surges Into the Chesapeake" –On those first days of September 2003, Marylanders had a lot on their minds. The two-year anniversary was looming of the day when jets had flown out of crystalline blue skies into the World Trade Center, the Pentagon and a field in Pennsylvania, turning the world upside down. Yet the weather still managed to make the news. Closer to home, August and September had been hot and humid in the Chesapeake Bay region—not that this was unusual for late summer. There was news of a storm brewing off the coast of Africa and surging across the Atlantic—Hurricane Isabel had reached Category 5 status. While the intensity of the storm had fallen off, the hurricane remained massive and powerful. More than thirty years had passed since a major hurricane had struck the Chesapeake Bay. The model of the storm indicated that areas at the top of the Chesapeake Bay would be hit hardest. Massive amounts of water came up the Bay, forcing it back into tributaries, creeks and rivers and towns that were usually beyond the reach of high water. By morning light, it was obvious that to all of us here in Holland Point, the storm was devastating. We became an island with water at the south end of Walnut to the north end of Walnut. And, there was no getting through. There were NO piers left from Beach Ave to Sycamore and no boats. Fortunately, no homes were destroyed by the storm. Our community was still in tack and together. For those of us who lived here during that time, we all have a specific memory of that storm. Mine was of the day before the storm. Several of us gathered in North Beach in front of “Thursdays” restaurant, which is now “Mexico”. We filled sand bags for anyone to pickup who might need them. Once finished, we migrated inside “Thursdays” for a bowl of chili and drinks—wondering what we would find tomorrow.
